GEOCHEMICAL EXPLORATION 1995

Edited by

Graham F. Taylor and Richard Davy

Preface vii

Twenty-five years in geoanalysis, 1970–1995 (Presidential Address at 17th IGES in Townsville, Australia, May 15, 1995)
G.E.M. Hall 1
Transport of cassiterite in a Malaysian stream: implications for geochemical exploration
W.K. Fletcher and C.H. Loh 9
The relations between false gold anomalies, sedimentological processes and landslides in Harris Creek, British Columbia, Canada
Z. Hou and W.K. Fletcher 21
Aspects of exploration geochemistry in Southeast Asia: soils, sediments and potential for anthropogenic effects
W.K. Fletcher 31
Thermal setting of the Cadjebut Zn–Pb deposit, Western Australia
D. Arne 45
Geochemistry and exploration significance of ironstones and barite-rich rocks in the Proterozoic Willyama Supergroup, Olary Block, South Australia
B.G. Lottermoser and P.M. Ashley 57
Interpreting aerial gamma-ray surveys utilising geomorphological and weathering models
B.L. Dickson, S.J. Fraser and A. Kinsey-Henderson 75
Discovery of the Mt Bini porphyry copper–gold–molybdenum deposit in the Owen Stanley Ranges, Papua New Guinea — A geochemical case history
M.A. Dugmore, P.W. Leaman and R. Philip 89
"Dipole" CHIM: concept and application
A. Levitski, B. Filanovski, T. Bourenko, E. Tannenbaum and G. Bar-Am 101
Mineralogy, morphology and chemistry of gold in the stone line lateritic profile of the Posse deposit, Central Brazil
C.G. Porto and M. Hale 115
On the albite-enriched granitoids at Um Ara area, Southeastern Desert, Egypt. 1. Geochemical, ore potentiality and fluid inclusion studies
H.M. Abdalla, S. Ishihara, H. Matsueda and A.A. Abdel Monem 127
Ferruginous lag geochemistry on the Yilgarn Craton of Western Australia; practical aspects and limitations
I.D.M. Robertson 139
A case-hardened, low contamination ring mill for multi-element geochemistry
I.D.M. Robertson, M. Dyson, E.G. Hudson, J.F. Crabb, M.J. Willing and M.K.W. Hart 153
Regolith research in support of mineral exploration in Australia
R.E. Smith 159
The application of soil geochemistry to gold exploration in the black Flag Area, Yilgarn Block, Western Australia
R.H. Mazzucchelli 175
Geochemistry of trace elements in Paleozoic bauxite profiles in northern Russia
L.E. Mordberg 187
Gold, wolframite, tourmaline-bearing lateritized gossans in the Amazon region, Brazil
R.S. Angélica, M.L. da Costa and H. Pöllmann 201
Pseudomorphic replacement versus dilation in laterites: petrographic evidence, mechanisms, and consequences for modelling
D. Nahon and E. Merino 217
Biogeochemical exploration for gold in tropical rain forest regions of Papua New Guinea
B.I.A. McInnes, C.E. Dunn, E.M. Cameron and L. Kameko 227
Mineral associations of platinum and palladium in lateritic regolith, Ora Banda Sill, Western Australia
D.J. Gray, K.H. Schorin and C.R.M. Butt 245

Application of multi-element geochemistry in Au–phosphate-bearing lateritic crusts for identification of their parent rocks
M. Lima da Costa and E. Santos Araújo 257
Copper (gold) and non-metal deposits hosted in Mesozoic shoshonite and K-rich calc-alkaline series from Lishui in the Lower Yangtze region, China
J.C. Zhou, J.P. Zhou, J. Liu, T.P. Zhao and W. Chen 273
